THE GOLDITE EXPOSURE.

The dispatches from Europe, which tell of the gold famine and of the desperate struggle of each country to retain its gold supply and add to it, speak in language more forcible is the king of the world. Aches than any mere argument commonly supplies of the disastrous struggle in the attempt to do the world's business on a basis too narrow for practical work, says the Salt Lake Tribune. The plain truth seems to be and seems to be now recognized as has constantly been maintained in these columns for the last ten years, that there is not gold enough in the world to serve as a bssis for the world's business. The frantic offorts of all commercial people to hold on to their supply of gold and the terrorized efforts they make to prevent any other nation drawing upon their of Lake. supply, are facts, the telling of which must carry conviction to the dullest mind. But the mind of the goldbug is not dull. He has known this long. It is of deliberate purpose that he has undertaken to maintain the gold standard alone and to build up a public sentiment that would sustain him in so doing. It has been to bis interest in the past to keep from the public the facts in relation to the scant supply of gold as compared with the world's commerce, for he could easily see that if the public understood this, it would say at once that if there was not gold enough allays the pain, cures wind colic and they would supplement the gold is the best remedy for diarrhoa, money with silver. This is precisely what the goldbug has wished to avoid. His desire has been to establish the single gold standard well knowing the insufficiency of that metal, and his interest in this has been purely selfish. He has wanted gold merely because gold was scarce and dear. If he could get all nations committed to that view, then his future would be secure. He would drain the life-blood of all peoples to obtain his usury. The world would the following described stock on acbe at his feet and would have to pay interest in a metal hard to get, which, when received, would yield him the highest value. His schemes, however, are in danger of failure, because before the entire fruition of his plan his hand has to be exposed. The people are made aware by unmistakable evidence that gold is at premium that inasmuch as all people are engaged in desperate struggle to retain what little of it they have, there is not enough of it to go around. The present crisis is unveiling the true situation. Let the people open their eyes and see just where they will be if they yield to the demand of the goldbugs. With every people locking up their gold and making an outcry if they lose a few million, more or less, what are we coming to? The programme of money servitude offered the people is exposed at its weakest point. It is in the power of the people to step right in and say that it shall go no further, and the people should lose no time in exercising their power and demanding that the process for their enslavement shall cease right here and now.

There are said to be many idle men on the streets of Fresno, who aid in the agitation against the Chinese, but who will not work when places are ready for them in the orchards and vineyards. Several gangs of Chinamen were driven from vineyards Monday night, but no whites would go to work to fill the places made vacant, This action is not general, for many whites of both sexes have found and accepted needed employment within the past few days.

The Oakland papers say the S. P. Company has taken the light out of clock tower at the ferry, and that people can not see the official time at night when desiring to catch late boats. As a rule after a man has spent the day in Oakland, he isn't able to tell time, anyway.

The passage of a free coinage bill says the Aspen, Colorado Times, would paralize the industry of making millionaires and in its stead build up the fortunes of the people, and for that reason the gold bugs use every means in their power to prevent it.
